

A Typical Lesson Plan to Teach a Conversation to Young Learners

Objectives:

At the end of this lesson students should be able to:

1. Say and produce a conversation.
2. Respond correctly to some situations.
3. Use the words/phrases in the conversation in real-life situations.

Warm up:

1. Activating students' knowledge about the topic of the conversation.
2. Reviewing some words from the previous lesson.
3. Checking assigned homework.

Presentation:

(Introducing the conversation: Books closed).

1. Setting the scene.
2. Presenting the new vocab. (words/phrases) using effective techniques.

(Books open).

3. Asking Students to look at the pictures and talk about them:
 - Asking about what they see.
 - Asking about what they think happening in each picture.
 - Asking some simple questions about the pictures.
4. Asking Students to listen to the whole conversation and checking understanding by eliciting the meaning of the new words/phrases.
5. Acting out the conversation with one or two brilliant Students. Then, asking two brilliant students to act it out again.

Practice:

(Students practice the conversation).

1. Students listen to the conversation picture by picture or line by line focusing on the correct pronunciation and repeat correctly.
2. Students listen to the conversation again and point to the picture and the speakers.
3. Students role play the conversation using the textbook first, then produce it without books and with dramatization.

Finish the lesson:

Creating real-life situations encouraging students to use the phrases taught in the conversation.
